Guide to Harvard Referencing

CONTENTS

1 INTRODUCTION

1.1 Why is referencing important?

Referencing is the acknowledgement of any material used in the writing of your work. It is used to:

- let the reader find the source material you have used
- show the research you have carried out to place your work in context and reach your conclusions
- back up your arguments
- avoid plagiarism, cheating or copying

Plagiarism is the use of another's work (or your own previous work) without a clear acknowledgement of the source of the information. Another's work refers not just to his/her words; it also includes ideas, images, charts, data, music, and so on. Plagiarism may be accidental or deliberate, and is considered a serious disciplinary offence in Dundalk Institute of Technology (DkIT).

1.1.1 Common knowledge

You do not need to acknowledge a source for information that is common knowledge. Common knowledge is information that either the general public or the average reader in your subject area would know. If you are unsure if something is common knowledge you should include a reference for it.

1.2 What is the Harvard style of referencing?

A number of different referencing styles exist. DkIT uses the Harvard style of referencing, which is outlined in this guide. Your lecturer might want you to use a different style of referencing; you should check this with him/her before beginning your work.

The Harvard style of referencing consists of two elements:

1. Citation
   - An indication, in the main text of your work, that you have used someone else's work.
   - This usually takes the form (Author's surname Year). Example: (Drury 2013).
   - Where the author's name(s) occurs naturally in the text, the year follows in brackets. Example: Drury (2013) outlines the key steps required.

2. Reference list
- The detailed list of sources cited in your work, in other words the sources from which you have obtained your information.
- The reference list appears at the end of your work.
- It is arranged alphabetically by author's surname.

1.2.1 Bibliography and webography

A reference list contains only sources cited in the main text of your work. In general, you are only required to produce a reference list, but you may be asked to provide a bibliography instead of or in addition to the reference list. A bibliography is list of all sources and background material consulted, whether or not you have cited the source in your text. It is in the same format as the reference list. A separate webography can also be included at the end of the bibliography if you have used information from websites.

2. QUOTING, PARAPHRASING AND SUMMARISING

2.1 Short direct quotations
A direct quotation of less than two lines long should:
- be inserted directly into the text without putting it on to a new line
- commence and end with quotation marks
- include the citation at the end

2.2 Long direct quotations
A direct quotation consists of the actual words used by the author. A direct quotation of more than two lines long should:
- commence on a new line
- be indented from the main text at both left and right margins
- be typed in smaller font size to the main text of the work
- be typed in single-line spacing
- not have quotation marks
- include the citation at the end

2.3 Changing a direct quotation
Where you make changes to a direct quotation you must follow the rules below:
- where you leave out words, phrases, or paragraphs from a quotation, whether from the beginning, middle or end, you must show this with ellipsis points (i.e. three spaced dots). There should be a space before each dot unless the first dot is a full stop, and a space after the last if a word follows, e.g. Ward (2014, p.17) believes this "shows diligence . . . and quality".
- where you want to insert your own words, or different words, into a quotation, you must put them in [square] brackets
- where there is an error, e.g. a spelling mistake or wrong date, in the original quotation, type [sic] at the point where the error occurs.
- if you underline, embolden or italicise any part of the quotation for emphasis, you must state that the emphasis is your own, e.g. (O'Connor 2012, p.45, author's italics).
- if any part of the original is underlined, or in bold, or in italics you must state that is how it is in the original, e.g., (Smyth 2014, p.44, italics in original)

2.4 Paraphrasing and summarising
You may wish to paraphrase or summarise a piece rather than quoting directly.

- Paraphrasing is when you put someone else's work into your own words
- Summarising is when you give an outline of the main points of a passage, chapter or book
- Do not change the original meaning
- You must still acknowledge the original author as the idea is not your own. See section 3.1 for when to include page numbers.

Author's original text
Brand loyalty exists when consumers have a preference for the products of established companies. A company can create brand loyalty by continuously advertising its brand-name products and company name, patent protection of its products, product innovation achieved through company research and development programs, an emphasis on high quality products, and exceptional after-sales service.

Reference: Jones, G. and Hill, C. (2013). Theory of strategic management: with cases. 10th ed. Mason: South-Western.

Paraphrasing example
Jones and Hill (2013, p.47) explain that brand loyalty means a customer's preference for products from well-known companies. They outline ways in which a company can create brand loyalty, including repeated advertising of the product and company brand-name, taking out a patent on the product, research driven innovation, and a high standard of after-sales service.

Summarising example
Jones and Hill (2013, p.47) outline the various ways by which a company can create brand loyalty through advertising, patent protection, innovation, quality, and after-sales services.

3. GENERAL GUIDELINES

The following guidelines apply to all material types. See Section 4 for details on how to reference specific material types.

3.1 Citing page numbers	Include page numbers in the citation when you quote from, paraphrase or summarise a specific section in the source. Exclude page numbers when you refer to a larger section or to an entire work. Add a comma after the year and use p. for a single page and pp. for a page range. Example citation (Byrne 2014, p.56) (Byrne 2014, pp.17-19)
3.2 One author	(Author's surname Year) Example citation (Drury 2013) Example reference Drury, C. (2013). Management accounting for business. 5th ed. Andover: Cengage Learning.
3.3 Two authors	List the authors as they appear on the source material, not alphabetically. (First author's surname and second author's surname Year) Example citation (Aldridge and O'Dwyer 2013) Example reference Aldridge, P. and O'Dwyer, L. (2013). Practical emergency and critical care veterinary nursing. Chichester: Wiley-Blackwell.

3.4 Three or more authors	The first author is as listed on the source material, not alphabetical order. Include the first author only followed by 'et al.' in the citation but name all authors in the reference list. (First author's surname et al. Year) Example citation (Torrington et al. 2014) Example reference Torrington, D., Hall, L., Taylor, S. and Atkinson, C. (2014). Human resource management. 9th ed. Harlow: Pearson.
3.5 Works with no author	Where you cannot establish the author(s) of a work, include the title within the brackets in place of the author's surname. (Title Year) Example citation (Collins English dictionary 2012)
3.6 Source cited within another source	It is recommended that you only cite and reference sources that you have seen yourself. For sources that you have not actually seen but which are referred to in another work you must cite both the author of the idea you are using and the source in which you found it. In your reference list only give details of the source that you have actually seen. Example citation (Simon 1957 cited in Jones and Hill 2013, p.28) Example reference Jones, G. and Hill, C. (2013). Theory of strategic management: with cases. 10th ed. Mason: South-Western.

3.7 Multiple sources cited together	When citing a topic that has been discussed in multiple publications, list in order of most recent publication date first. Separate each with a semi-colon. Where there are two or more publications in the same year, list these alphabetically. Each source is given a separate entry in the reference list. Example citation (Aspinall 2014; Orpet and Welsh 2011; Girling 2003)
3.8 Multiple authors with the same surname and the same year	Include the first initial of each author after a comma. (Author's surname, Initial. Year) Example citations (O'Brien, D. 2012) (O'Brien, P. 2012)
3.9 Multiple publications by the same author in different years	List in order of publication in the reference list, from oldest to newest.
3.10 Multiple publications by the same author in the same year	Use lowercase letters after the year in both citation and reference list. Example citations (Smith 2012a) (Smith 2012b) Example references Smith, A. (2012a). Power and persuasion. Abingdon: Routledge. Smith, A. (2012b). The media's portrayal of power in the 1900s. European journal of modern history, 41 (2), pp. 201-211.

3.11 Works with no date or uncertain date	If you do not know the date of the publication, use 'n.d.' (not dated) in place of the year in both citation and reference list. If you only know the approximate date of the publication, add 'c.' (circa) before the year in both citation and reference list. If you only know the probable date of the publication, add '?' after the year in both citation and reference list. If you only know the decade of publication, add '-' in place of the exact year in the decade in both citation and reference list. Example citations (O'Connell n.d.) (Murphy c.2012) (Holmes and Brook 2007?) (Kelly 199-)
3.12 Printed works with no place of publication	If you do not know the place of publication, use 's.l.' (sine loco) instead of the place of publication in the reference list.
3.13 Printed works with more than one place of publication	If there is more than one place of publication only reference the first place of publication listed.
3.14 US States in the place of publication	US states should be abbreviated to their two letter code, e.g. NJ, CA.
3.15 Double-barrelled surnames	Cite and reference using the first part of the surname Example citation (Jenkins-Brown 2012)
3.16 Author with a title (Dr., Professor, Sir)	Do not include titles in the citation or reference list.

3.17 Capital letters	Use sentence case, i.e. use capital letters for the first letter of each title and for proper nouns.
3.18 Repeating a citation These are not part of the Harvard System of Referencing but are commonly used with all systems.	ibid. (an abbreviation of the Latin term 'ibidem' meaning 'in the same place') is used as a ditto instead of repeating the previous reference. op.cit. (an abbreviation of the Latin term 'opera citato' meaning 'in the work cited') is used after an author's name to mean the same work as last cited for this author.
3.19 Citing interviews/surveys carried out by yourself	Interviews and surveys that you have conducted yourself cannot be cited in the traditional manner, as they cannot be traced by the reader. The same applies to personal communication such as emails. Instead, you can transcribe the content and include it as an appendix at the very end of your work, after the reference list, and refer to the appendix when required. Permission should be sought before using these sources. An appendix is usually given a capital letter e.g. Appendix A, Appendix B. Example See Appendix A for the survey questions used. Anthony O'Donnell, IT Director, confirmed this in his interview (Appendix B).

4. REFERENCING AND CITING GUIDELINES

4.1 Books and E-Books

Material Type	In-text Citation	Reference
4.1.1 Book	(Author's surname Year) Examples (Dooley 2012) (Aldridge and O'Dwyer 2013)	Author(s) surname(s), Initial(s). (Year of publication). Title of book: subtitle if any. Edition followed by ed. (if not the first edition) Place of publication: Publisher. Examples Dooley, D. (2012). Nursing ethics: Irish cases and concerns. 2nd ed. Dublin: Gill & Macmillan. Aldridge, P. and O'Dwyer, L. (2013). Practical emergency and critical care veterinary nursing. Chichester: Wiley-Blackwell.
4.1.2 Edited book Use when referring to the entire book.	(Editor's surname Year) Example (Theaker 2012)	Editor(s) surname(s), Initial(s)., followed by ed. or eds. (Year of publication). Title of book: subtitle if any. Edition followed by ed. (if not the first edition) Place of publication: Publisher. Example Theaker, A., ed. (2012). The public relations handbook. Abingdon: Routledge.

4.1.3 Chapter in edited book Use when referring to a single chapter in an edited book.	(Chapter author's surname Year)	Chapter author(s) surname(s), Initial(s). (Year of publication). Title of chapter. In: Book editor(s) surname(s), Initial(s)., followed by ed. or eds. Title of book: subtitle if any. Edition followed by ed. (if not the first edition) Place of publication: Publisher, page number(s) of chapter.
	Example (Sassen 2010)	Example Sassen, S. (2010). The global city. In: Giddens, A. and Sutton, P., eds. Sociology: introductory readings. 3rd ed. Cambridge: Polity, pp.88-91.
4.1.4 Book series	(Author's surname Year)	Author's surname, Initial/s. (Year of publication). Title of book: subtitle if any. Edition followed by ed. (if not the first edition) Series title, volume number (if any). Place of publication: Publisher.
	Example (Rose 2012)	Example Rose, J. (2012). The mature student's guide to writing. 3rd ed. Palgrave study skills. Basingstoke: Palgrave Macmillan.
4.1.5 Reprinted book	(Author's surname Year of original publication)	Author(s) surname(s), Initial(s). (Year of original publication). Title of book. Edition followed by ed. (if not the first edition) Reprint, place of publication of the reprint: Publisher of the reprint, year of reprinting.
	Example (Du Maurier 1938)	Example Du Maurier, D. (1938). Rebecca. Reprint, London: Virago, 2010.

4.1.6 Book review	(Reviewer's surname Year)	Reviewer's surname, Initial(s). (Year of publication of the review). Review title (where there is one). Review of title of work reviewed by author's first name and surname. Follow referencing guidelines for the material type in which the review appears.
	Example (Oram 2014)	Example from a print journal Oram, H. (2014). Review of Brian Boru and the Battle of Clontarf by Seán Duffy. Books Ireland, 355, pp.15-16.
4.1.7 Translation	(Original author's surname Year)	Author(s) surname(s), Initial(s). (Year of publication). Title of work. Translated from the language of the original by translator's first name and surname. Place of publication: Publisher.
	Example (Petterson 2006)	Example Petterson, P. (2006). Out stealing horses. Translated from Norwegian by Anne Born. London: Vintage.
4.1.8 Play Note: For a live performance see section 4.9	(Author's surname Year)	Author(s) surname(s), Initial(s). (Year of publication). Title of play: subtitle if any. Edition followed by ed. (if not the first edition) Place of publication: Publisher.
	(Shakespeare 1994)	Shakespeare, W. (1994). King Lear. London: Penguin.
	You may also cite the Act.Scene: line
	Example (Shakespeare 1994, 1.1: 90)

4.1.9 Introduction to a book Use if the introduction is not written by the primary author or editor	(Author of introduction's surname Year) (Marino 2010)	Author(s) of introduction surname(s), Initial(s). (Year of publication). Introduction (or Foreword or Preface). In: Title of book: subtitle if any. Edition followed by ed. (if not the first edition) Place of publication: Publisher. Marino, S. (2010). Introduction. In: A view from the bridge. London: Methuen Drama.
4.1.10 Reference work with no author (e.g. dictionary)	(Title Year) Example (Collins Italian dictionary 2010)	Title of work. (Year of publication). Edition followed by ed. (if not the first edition) Place of publication: Publisher. Example Collins Italian dictionary. (2010). 2nd ed. Glasgow: HarperCollins.
4.1.11 Exhibition catalogue It is usual to capitalise the names of art movements.	(Author's surname Year) Examples (Irish Museum of Modern Art 2006) (Haskell 1984)	Author (where there is no author, use the gallery or museum). (Year). Title of exhibition. Place of exhibition, Gallery. Examples Irish Museum of Modern Art. (2006). Irish Art of the Seventies. Dublin, Irish Museum of Modern Art. Haskell, B. (1984). Blam! The explosion of Pop, Minimalism and Performance 1958-64. New York, Whitney Museum of American Art.

4.1.12 E-Book: Website or library database	(Author's surname Year)	Author(s) surname(s), Initial(s). (Year of publication). Title of E-Book: subtitle if any [online]. Edition followed by ed. (if not the first edition) Place of publication (if any): Publisher. Available from: library database name, or URL if accessed online from somewhere other than a library database [accessed date].
	Example from website (Browne 2011)	Example from a website Browne, K. (2011). An introduction to sociology [online]. Cambridge: Polity. Available from: https://books.google.ie/books?isbn=0745650082 [accessed 22 July 2015].
	Example from library database (Aldgate 2006)	Example from a library database Aldgate, J. (2006). The developing world of the child [online]. London: Jessica Kingsley Publishers. Available from: EBSCOhost eBook Collection [accessed 20 July 2015].

4.1.13 E-Book: E-Reader (e.g. Kindle)	(Author's surname Year)	Author(s) surname(s), Initial(s). (Year of publication). Title of e-book: subtitle if any [E-Reader name]. Edition followed by ed. (if not the first edition) Place of publication (if any): Publisher.
	Example (Byrne 2012)	Example Byrne, D. (2012). How music works [Kindle]. Edinburgh: Canongate.
	Note: As no page numbers are given you may use chapter and paragraph numbers in the in-text citation, if required.
	Example: (Byrne 2012, ch. 5, para. 4).
4.1.14 Audiobook	(Author's surname Year)	Author(s) surname(s), Initial(s). (Year of publication). Title of audiobook: subtitle if any [audiobook]. Edition followed by ed. (if not the first edition) Place of publication (if any): Publisher.
	Example (McEwan 2002)	Example McEwan, I. (2002). Atonement [audiobook]. New York: HarperCollins.

4.2   Journals and magazines

Material Type	In-text Citation	Reference List
4.2.1 Journal/magazine article: Print	(Author's surname Year)	Author(s) surname(s), Initial(s). (Year of publication). Title of article. Title of journal, volume number(issue/number, or date/month of publication if volume and issue are absent), page number(s).
	Example of journal article (Rucki and Rice 2012)	Example of journal article Rucki, J.D. and Rice, T. (2012). The individual in musical ethnography. Ethnomusicology, 56(2), pp.299-327.
	Example of magazine article (Campbell 2014)	Example of magazine article Campbell, P. (2014). Thinking smarter. Checkout, 40(4), p.31.
4.2.2 Journal/magazine article: Website or library database	(Author's surname Year)	Author(s) surname(s), Initial(s). (Year of publication). Title of article. Title of journal [online], volume number(issue/number, or date/month of publication if volume and issue are absent), page numbers (if any). Available from: library database name, or URL if accessed online from somewhere other than a library database [accessed date].
	Example from website (Spruit 2014)	Example of journal article from website Spruit, M. (2014). Pulmonary rehabilitation. European respiratory review [online], 23(131). Available from: http://err.ersjournals.com/content/23/131/55.full.pdf+html [accessed 14 May 2015].

4.3   Correspondence and communication

A traditional citation is not required for personal communication (such as emails or interviews), as they cannot be sourced by the reader. Instead, you should clearly explain within your text where the information came from, e.g. "As stated in an email from John Smith on 14th August 2014, the new strategic plan will be made available in the coming weeks". Alternatively, you may wish to include a transcription of the personal communication in an appendix. In both cases you should first seek permission from the author of the communication.

Material Type	In-text Citation	Reference
4.3.1 Letter to a newspaper	(Author's surname Year)	Author(s) surname(s), Initial(s). (Year of publication). Title of letter [letter]. Title of newspaper: supplement/section if any, date, page number(s).
	(Finn 2015)	Finn, T. (2015). Rugby and concussion [letter]. The Irish Times, 9 October 2015, p.21.
4.3.2 Letter in historical archive	(Author's surname Year)	Author(s) surname(s), Initial(s). Subject matter. Letter to recipient's name, year. Held in Collection (if available), reference number (if available), Institution, City.
	Example (Brown 1969)	Example Brown, J.E. A reading for American students. Letter to Austin Clarke, 1969. Held in Austin Clarke Papers, MS 38,652/1, National Library of Ireland, Dublin.

4.4 Course material

Course material refers to lecture notes, worksheets, etc. Copies of other material types (e.g. from a book or journal) should be referenced as per the guidelines for the material type in question. In general, you should not refer to course material in your academic writing.

Material Type	In-text Citation	Reference
4.4.1 Course material: Print	(Author's surname Year) Example (Murphy 2014)	Author(s) surname(s), Initial(s). (Year of publication). Title of course material [unpublished], Module code: Module title. Institution, School or Department. Example Murphy, J. (2014). What is marketing? [unpublished], MRKT B8011: Marketing. Dundalk Institute of Technology, Department of Business Studies.
4.4.2 Course material: Online	(Author's surname Year) Example (Johnson 2014)	Author(s) surname(s), Initial(s). (Year of publication). Title of course material [online], Module code: Module title. Institution, School or Department. Available from: URL [accessed date]. Example Johnson, R. (2014). Introduction to change management [online], MGMT H1013: Change Management. Dundalk Institute of Technology, Department of Business Studies. Available from: http://moodle.dkit.ie/course/view.php?id=001 [accessed 24 June 2015].

4.5 Internet

Material Type	In-text Citation	Reference
4.5.1 Webpage Material on the Web often falls into one of the material types already covered in this guide. Information published on the Web is not necessarily a webpage. In such cases, follow the instructions for the material type in question (e.g. research report, e-book).	(Author/Owner Year) Example (Dundalk Institute of Technology 2015)	Author/Owner of webpage. (Year created or last updated). Title of webpage [online]. Available from: URL [accessed date]. Example Dundalk Institute of Technology. (2015). Graduate research [online]. Available from: http://www.dkit.ie/research/graduate-research [accessed 24 February 2015].
4.5.2 Online video (e.g. YouTube)	(Contributor Year) Example (University of Wolverhampton 2013)	Screen name of contributor. (Year). Title of video [video online]. Available from: URL [accessed date]. Example University of Wolverhampton (2013). Short guide to Harvard Referencing [video online]. Available from: http://youtu.be/RdG91lhDseA [accessed 9 June 2015].
4.5.3 Mailing list/ Discussion Forum/ Blog/ Twitter/ Facebook	(Author's surname Year)	Author(s) surname(s), Initial(s). (Year item posted). Title or description of post. Title of Mailing list/ Discussion forum/ Blog/ Twitter/ Facebook [online], day and month posted. Available from: URL [accessed date].

	Example from mailing list	Example from mailing list

4.5.4 Wiki In general, you should not refer to Wikipedia in your academic writing	(Name of wiki Year)	Name of wiki or author(s) surname(s), Initial(s). (Year last updated). Subject of page. Available from: URL [accessed date].
	Example (Wikipedia 2019)	Example Wikipedia. (2019). Renewable energy. Available from: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Renewable_energy [accessed 25 July 2019].

4.5.5 Institutional Repository	(Author's surname Year)	Follow the instructions for the relevant material type in print. Not all information may be available but include as many details as you can. At the end of each reference state: [Online institutional repository]. Available from: URL [accessed date].
An institutional repository contains various materials, such as journal articles, book chapters, conference papers, and theses.	Examples (Brady 2002)	Examples Brady, C. (2002). Earlier prehistoric settlement in the Boyne Valley. Archaeology Ireland. 16(3), pp.8-12. [Online institutional repository]. Available from: http://eprints.dkit.ie/306/ [accessed 17 June 2019]

4.5.6 SlideShare	(Contributor Year)	Screen name of contributor. (Year created or last updated). Title of presentation [SlideShare]. Available from: URL [accessed date].
	Example (Aditi Technologies 2014)	Example Aditi Technologies. (2014). 7 trends reshaping your retail experience [slideshare]. Available from: http://www.slideshare.net/AditiTechnologies/7-trends-reshaping-your-retail-experience [accessed 26 August 2019].
	Note: If you are referring to a particular slide you can indicate this in your citation. (Aditi Technologies 2014, sl. 8)

4.5.7	Pinterest	(Contributor Year)	Contributor. (Year). Title of image [Pinterest]. Available from: URL [accessed date].
		(Miller 2018)	Miller, M. (2018). The 100 novel challenge [Pinterest]. Available from: https://www.pinterest.ie/pin/AU85uPhz-DIU6/ [accessed 10 September 2019].
4.5.8	Mobile application	(Author/Company Year)	Author/Company. (Year of release). Title of mobile application [mobile application]. Version number. Available from: app store name [accessed date].
		Example (TED Conferences 2015)	Example TED Conferences. (2015). TED [mobile application]. Version 2.4.5. Available from: iTunes [accessed 15 April 2015].
4.5.9	Video conferences, Webinars, Webcasts, lectures and seminars		No traditional citation required when you are referring to a live public communication. You do however need to clearly explain in your text where you sourced the information. For examples, see the section on Correspondence and Communication. Recorded webinars can be referenced as an online video.

4.6 Images

You do not need to include a traditional citation if you are using an image for decorative purposes only. Instead indicate the source of the image beneath it, e.g. Source: www.dkit.ie
